FLORIDA COMMISSION ON OFFENDER REVIEW NAMES DIRECTOR OF COMMUNICATIONS

TALLAHASSEE, FLA- The Florida Commission on Offender Review has named Kelly Corder as the agency's Director of Communications, effective June 21. Corder previously held the position of Public Information Officer with the agency.

"Ms. Corder has proven to be an integral part of our Communications team and her depth of experience and knowledge are the perfect fit for the position and the Commission. I look forward to working with her in her new role as we continue to advance our mission of ensuring the public safety of Florida," commented Commission Chair Melinda Coonrod.

Corder's professional experience includes employment with the Florida Department of Education in the Office of Communications and External Affairs, and with the Office of the Commissioner. She also has extensive experience in video production and scriptwriting, previously working in documentaries and with the CBS production Guiding Light.

Corder is a graduate of Florida State University where she received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Communications.

The Florida Commission on Offender Review (FCOR) (formerly the Florida Parole Commission), is a constitutionally authorized, quasi-judicial, decision-making body which has been serving the citizens of this state since 1941. The Commission holds offenders accountable for their behaviors and ensures public safety through its careful selection of offenders for re-entry into society by administering parole, conditional medical release, control release, conditional release, and addiction recovery release supervision. The Commission also acts as the investigative arm of the Governor and Cabinet, sitting as the Board of Executive Clemency in clemency matters. The Commission's mission is to ensure public safety and provide victim assistance through the post prison release process.
